

FIRM PROFILE

MacKnight Architects has based its practice on a broad range of architectural projects ranging from individual residences to corporate, institutional and public facilities. Our capabilities extend to Site and Master planning, Feasibility Studies, Programming, Interior Design and Historic Preservation/Restoration.

Established in 1985, our offices are located in the Armory Square area of downtown Syracuse, New York. We have a commitment to design excellence as evidenced by our association with high profile, design oriented projects, and the loyalty of repeat clients. The firm has established a reputation for being able to take a project from conception to completion on budget and on schedule. The firm's dedication to quality lasting architecture is practiced with careful detailing and choice of materials to ensure the client of an end product which will endure.

We have worked on many resort projects including the Greenbrier Sporting Club. Our work at the Greenbrier included the Summit Activities and Activities Barn on these projects we were associate architects to Hart Howerton Architect Planners. Our responsibilities included production of the construction documents from conceptual designs. The experience with these projects has given us a through working knowledge of the Greenbrier Sporting Club ARB Guidelines. We feel we are well suited for future residential projects at the Club. The architectural vernaculars embraced by the Club are those that we have engaged on previous residential and resort projects.

We feel we have a broad level of experience to offer a client. Our projects vary in scope and nature but they are all similar in their goals; a lasting design aesthetic and quality of detailing, value and timeliness of delivery. We are development partners on a number of residential projects hence we are well aware of all of the factors involved in taking a dream from concept to reality. Our web site may serve to illustrate our firms' capabilities and talent.
